A Letter From an Elder

by Brad Fleenor

A simple, spirit-filled walk

We are meant to fellowship and walk in a way pleasing to the Father, which is apparent from the beginning with Adam and Eve before the fall. Enoch, Noah, and Abraham also all walked in a manner pleasing to the Father (Genesis 5:22-24; Genesis 6:9; Genesis 17:1-2). These were blameless in the sight of the Father, so much that they were taken by Elohim (Enoch), spared of wrath (Noah), or became the father of many (Abraham). Paul also talks about our walk in Ephesians 4:1-3, "I call upon you therefore, I the prisoner of the Master, to walk worthily of the calling with which you were called, with all humility and meekness, with patience, bearing with one another in love, being eager to guard the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace." We see that when we walk in a manner worthy of our calling, the fruit of the Spirit will be apparent, which is pleasing to the Father.

How do we begin to effectively walk in a manner that is pleasing to the Father and worthy of our calling as Messiah Yeshua did? Paul puts some context to this idea in Ephesians 3:14-21. In short, bowing our knees to the Father of Messiah Yeshua to be strengthened in the inner man through the Spirit (v 14-16) and to know (or experience) the vast love of Messiah beyond knowledge (v 18-19). The Father will also do far more than we ask or think by the power of the Spirit within us when we humble ourselves (v 20). When walking as Yeshua should we not have high expectations for the Spirit to work in us and through us to produce fruit for a worthy walk?

Please send Tracy submissions for the next newsletter by October 26th. Poetry, stories, photographs, events, businesses, etc. Tracy.m.grijalva@gmail.com

When we humbly submit to the Father and Yeshua should we not be filled with the fullness of God, or the Holy Spirit (Ephesians 3:14-19). Why not ask to be a vessel overflowing with the fullness of God? If He will truly do far more than we ask or think (Ephesians 3:20-21), then why not ask for overflowing fruit of the Spirit? Seems as if we should do so. People are largely attracted or are intrigued by those having love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness, and self-control. This fruit only comes from above, which heals us and attracts others to see the love of the Messiah. Is your walk in submission to the Father and Yeshua producing abundant fruit?

May your walk be fruitful as you humbly bow before the Father to be filled with the Spirit and strengthen the inner man. Be blessed.

November Qahals

by Tracy Grijalva

With the changing weather, we have ended the Qahal meetings at the park until it warms up again. We are looking for a perfect location to meet with an area where the children can go to have their lesson while the adults have their study. Until we find that place, we will return to the Rescue Squad in Rogersville! Due to availability, we have booked it for two dates in November (they are still four weeks apart) - the first and the last Shabbat of that month. There will be no meeting in December, and we hope to find a better location for January. If you know of any place, please get in touch with Moises!

Past Qahals at the Park: August

by Tracy Grijalva

It was a great Qahal at the park. The Hutchison's led a wonderful praise and worship. Following the children's blessing and a nice open mic, the youth did a skit about the story of Jonah (this will eventually be posted on YouTube! Keep an eye out in future newsletters for when that will happen!) Following the skit was an adult study led by Brad and a youth study led by Kate. The youth received a meaty lesson as Kate taught them some things they may not have considered about Jonah. She brought out some great visuals to show how far away he ran! It was another lesson to remember, and I am so grateful for the enthusiasm for the youth! Thank you to everyone who is helping out!

Carriers of Water

From the Heart & Home of Bill & Rosemarie Call

We recently watched some videos that attempted to bring to life visually the book of Genesis. While watching and listening to the content creator read from Genesis while his images graced the screen, some thoughts came to mind that I had had in part before, but this time, they went further.

I absolutely love following themes in scripture. One I have noticed before is how Abraham and his descendants typically tend to have great hospitality in one way or another.

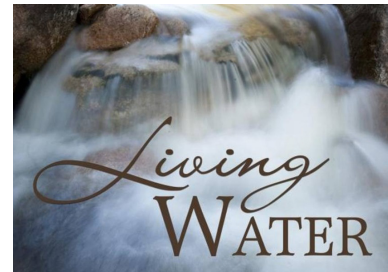

As we listened to Genesis, we were reminded how he, himself had dug multiple wells to gain access and use of water for him, his family, his servants, and his multitudes of livestock, not to mention any stranger that came his way, that on occasion even included angels and, I believe, YAH Himself!

Isaac, we are told, attempted to reopen those same wells that had been closed up after his father's passing for the same reasons.

Rebecca was found by Abraham's servant at the well, and she not only served that servant water but also all his camels until they were through drinking.

Jacob served Rachel at the well by ensuring she and her father's livestock were able to obtain the water they needed. One of my favorite phrases in the telling of that action is how "he rolled the stone away" from off of the well to provide them with there needed sustenance!

Moses, too, met his future wife at the well. We are told too that during that encounter, he defended her and her sisters against other shepherds insisting on watering their flocks ahead of hers. He then met her father and was given the pick of his daughters for a wife.

We are told over and over again how the women went to the well in the cool of the evening to obtain this vital source of life for themselves, their families, and their animals.

We are also told how if a woman is in much shame, she must go at noonday when no other women would be there to obtain her life-giving water.

We are told how Messiah himself met just such a woman at the well in the heat of the day and rather than physical water, He gave her joy in her soul that sprung up out of her like living water so much so that she ran off to tell the entirety of those around her what He had done for her. She was no longer in shame. She wanted to speak to everyone about what had happened.

I know for many of us, we, too, desire to tell the whole world what He has done for us and what He has shown us, and sometimes we are met with matching joy when we meet another with that same good news, but other times, we are met with sour responses from those not desiring our good news.

We pray for those who do not want to receive this life-giving water we desire to carry their way. They must be most dry and barren and parched in the lives they are living. I desire to see when He will make rivers of living water flow in a dry and dreary land, not only in the physical but in the hearts and minds and lives of those who have yet to open themselves up to His restorative power!

I pray that you will, if you haven't already, receive His life-giving water and, like the woman at the well, desire to be a Carrier of Water to all those around you in need of thirsting no more.
